UNIVERSITY PROJECTS

FAIL-SAFE PARACHUTE DEPLOYMENT SYSTEM FOR UAVs

- Designed a fail-safe parachute recovery system for multirotor UAVs to ensure safe landing during critical failures.
- Developed dual-redundancy deployment using independent sensors and real-time fault detection.
- Implemented rapid ballistic parachute release with spring/CO_2 actuation.
- Performed structural analysis of attachment points in ANSYS Workbench for >8g loads.
- Conducted drop tests from 50–100 m, achieving deployment <1.5 s and descent rate <5 m/s.
- Ensured 100% successful recovery in simulated failures, enhancing UAV safety and compliance.

DESIGN AND DEVELOPMENT OF PERSONAL OXYGEN DELIVERY SYSTEM FOR HELICOPTER AIRCREW AND PASSENGERS (Ongoing)

- Designed a lightweight, on-demand oxygen delivery system for high-altitude helicopter operations (>10,000 ft).
- Developed a pulse-dose regulator integrated with altitude-compensated pressure sensor and breathing detection.
- Engineered compact mask and cannula interface with quick-don oxygen masks for rapid deployment.
- Performed flow analysis and pressure drop optimization using ANSYS Fluent to ensure adequate O_2 delivery across 8–25 LPM demand.
- Conducted structural and fatigue analysis of reservoir and mounting brackets in ANSYS Workbench under vibration and 9g crash loads.
- Executed hypoxic chamber and flight tests up to 18,000 ft, achieving >90% SpO_2 maintenance and response time <2 s.
